A Little Bit About Me

I spend my time thinking about all the things I can create when I learn something new. As a kid, I always enjoyed building, and that passion has never stopped. Started off with everything static and boring, but in the past year, I've learned so much about adding dynamism to make it cool.

I have transformed my skills completely into web development, and I'm certainly loving it. When I'm not typing, you can definitely find me plucking the strings to accompany my melodious voice.

Musician

When I'm not working, I sing along to the latest top charts, perform with a band, and occasionally write my own melodies. Having spent many years performing at events and local restaurants, I have therefore had a lot of time to develop my own style. For me, it's all about the mood and peppy groove.
